Be assured that those for whom we speak were animated with the most intense, devoted and prayerful desire for the salvation of the American Union, and the preservation of the constitution of the United States; and that the accomplishment of these objects was the guiding and impelling motive in every mind.

And we may be permitted to add that their purpose to maintain that Union is manifested in their selection as their candidate of one whose life has been devoted to its cause, while it is their earnest hope and confident belief that your election will restore to our country union, peace and constitutional liberty.

GENERAL M'CLELLAN'S LETTER OF ACCEPT-ORANGE, N. J., Sept. 8, 1864.

Gentlemen-I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your lettion, recently assembled at Chicago, as their candidate at the next election for President of the United States. It is unnecessary for me to say to you that this nomination comes to me unsought. I am happy to know that when the nomination was made, a record of my public life was kept in view.

The effect of long and varied service in the army, during war and peace, has been to strengthen and make indelible in my heart the love and reverence for the Union, Constitution, laws and flag of our country, impressed on me in early youth. These feelings have thus far guided the course of my life, and must continue to do so to its end. The existence of more than one government over the region that once owned our flag is incompatible with the peace, the power and the happiuses of the people.

The preservation of our Union was the sole avowed object for which the war was commenced. It should have been conducted for that object only, and in accordance with those principles which I took occosion to declare when in active service. Thus conducted, the work of reconstruction would have been easy, and we might have reaped the benefits of our many victories on land and sea. The Union was originally formed by a spirit of conciliation and compromise. To restore it the same spirit C. E. ROSENBURY & Co. must prevail in our councils and in the hearts of the people.

The re-establishment of the Union in all its integrity is, and must continue to be, the indispensible condition in any settlement. So soon as it is clear, or even probable, that our present adversaries are ready for peace upon the basis of the Union, we should exhaust all the resources of statesmanship practiced by civilized nations, and taught by the traditions of the American people, consistent with the honor and interests of the country, to secure such peace, re-establish the Union and guarantee for the future the constitutional rights of every State. The Union is the one condition of peace we ask no more.

Let me add, what I doubt not was, although unexpressed, the sentiment of the onvention as it is of the people they represent, that when any one State is willing to return to the Union it should be received at once, with a FLOUR full guarantee of all its constitutional

If a frank, earnest and persistent effort to obtain those objects should fail, the responsibility for the ulterior consequences will fall upon those who remain in arms against the Union .-But the Union must be preserved at all hazards.

I could not look into the face of my gallant comrades of the army and FAMILY GROCERIES, navy who have survived so many bloody battles, and tell them that their labors and the sacrifice of so many of our slain and wounded brethren had been in vain; that we had abandoned that Union for which we had so often periled our lives.

A vast majority of our people, whether in the army and navy or at home, would as I would, hail with unbounded joy, the permanent resto-ration of peace, on the basis of the Union and the Constitution, without the effusion of another drop of blood. Household Implements of all kinds, and the most heautiful patterns of But no peace can be permanent with-

- As to the other subjects presented in the resolutions of the Convention, I need only say that I should seek in the constitution of the United States, Rope & Twine, Paints & Oils, and the laws framed in accordance therewith the rule of my duty and the imitations of executive deavor to restore economy in public expenditure, re-establish the suprema-expenditure, re-establish the suprema-law, and by the operation of a WHALE, WHALE, LUBRICATING and CARBON OILS.

depression of our paper money, and the burthens thereby imposed on la-bor and capital, show the necessity of a return to a sound gnancial system while the rights of citizens, and the rights of States, and the binding authority of law over President, army and people, are subjects of not less vital importance in war than in peace.

Beleiving that the views here expressed are those of the convention and the people you represent, I accept
